

SOLUTIONS ON FIRE

Issue 17, June 2011

Hello there,

Welcome to the June Issue of Solutions on Fire, the monthly resource to fire safety news, products and information. Please click on the links to be directed for further info. Also your monthly news items, plus further info on our upcoming training. Kind Regards, Solutions Fire Safety

Solutions Fire Safety are holding a Free Fire Safety Management Workshop in the London Borough of Lambeth.

This workshop is available for all of our customers to attend. I know we usually hold these complimentary workshops in Essex so it will be a chance for those who live or work near to be able to attend.

Date: Thursday 22nd September 2011

Venue: London, SW2 1RW

Time: 9.20am—12.00pm

To book your seats (free of charge!) please click here to be directed to our website where you can download your PDF booking form.

GERDA DEMONSTRATION

The importance of a well fitted and secure fire door

I am not sure whether you can remember but back in the November Issue we mentioned our visit to the GERDA showrooms. We were shown a great demonstration concerning the importance of fire doors. Well now you can see it for yourselves.

Gerda performed the same demonstration for thousands at International Firex 2011.

Uploaded onto Youtube, it is a great experiment for you to see. Click here to watch the VIDEO now!

Will there be a change in law for all new homes to be fitted with sprinklers?

A fire and rescue service is supporting the Chief Fire Officers Association for a new law which will force all new homes to be fitted with sprinklers.

We all know that smoke alarms work but...

BBC Radio 5 Live Breakfast Show obtained figures which showed that nearly half of fire deaths in buildings in 2010 had a working smoke alarm .

Lightning!! Who knew it could cause so much damage!

Among our trains being delayed and flights suspended, a tower block of flats was set on fire! The building was struck at the same time a control tower at Gatwick Airport was hit.

Chinese Laterns; they may mark an occasion but they are also a fire hazard

They have become increasingly popular in the UK, with an estimated 200,000 being released into the sky every summer. Yet they have caused (for the first time) a large fire in fields where it landed.

Help is Now to Hand for All

How much do you understand fire safety legislation?

As of, this month, The Chief Fire Officers Association (CFOA) brought together a guidance document; 'Collected Perceived Insights Into and Application of The Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005 For the Benefit of Enforcing Authorities'.

This user-friendly 135 page guide is available for you to download. This document aims to help enforcing authorities and regulators to provide a consistency of application. It is to be used as an additional source of information. This guide includes; interpretation, guidance notes, meanings and FAQ. It has the meaning of the responsible person, your duties under the order, fire risk assessment; the table of contents is endless. It will also be progressively updated with an Appendix as the courts make decisions. For further information and to download your guide please click here...
